

Six subscribers to the Daily Express testify to its popularity, and that is what it got yesterday.

It is the characteristic of many men in this world to be brave in great dangers and cowards in little ones.

The motto of the business man of today is: "Be true to your trust, and hold as much trust as possible."

Don't let the sun go down to night on an unfulfilled desire and intention to write home and tell what a good town Chickasha is to live in.

In Morgan county, Ind., a man found a silver dime under the skin of his horse's shoulder. There is plenty of room to make a horse hiding sensation.

Some women follow the Biblical injunction and give one-tenth of all they receive to the Lord, while other women marry titles and give the lord everything they've got.

There is an old saying that the road to evil things is a greased way. The saying might have gone further and stated that the people who do the sliding furnish the grease.

England wants to fix the Alaskan boundary while the senate is arranging a canal treaty. John Bull's attention should be called to the Monroe doctrine as it is interpreted by real American nerve.

Because this city has done well this year is no reason why we should stop now. There are other matters on hand that promise to yield a handsome revenue if only we have the spirit to take hold and push.

Take your little hammer to the blacksmith, have him beat it into pens, take one of the pens and write a letter to your friends in the old state and tell them just how prosperous Chickasha is, what an opening there is for factories and the employment of capital—tell the truth and nothing more—and stop your knocking.

At Pauls Valley in the trial of Kid Williams, an attorney asked a witness: "Was there anything in the attitude of either party at this time that you would call belligerent?" The witness eyed the attorney in helpless perplexity for a moment and then said: "Mister, you will have to cut that up. A laugh followed to which the judge joined heartily.

These people live in a town and continually complaining of the climate, the conditions, and the country, should move to the greener fields, and pastures new. That class of citizens is undesirable, unprofitable and unwholesome in a community. The man who recognizes the merits of his town and its people, and who stands up for them at all times and in all places, is the kind of good fellow that makes a town a good place to live in.

A Washington special to the Kansas City Jour al says it is learned upon good authority that the shake up with will follow the re-inauguration of President McKinley will probably affect Secretary Hitchcock. The president is said to desire Senator Carter, of Montana, to become secretary of the interior, and it is well understood that Senator Carter is willing to accept the place, so that it is expected Mr. Hitchcock will either retire or be transferred to another cabinet.

Some men are so mean that they leave the good wife to cook over that old cook stove full of cracks and warped lids and expect her to be a christian and a good cook with such implements to work with, when he can buy just the best cook stove at Gilkey Bros that the market affords and at a price so cheap that any man can afford to buy one.

Yes, said the author, three of my Christmas poems were turned down; but there's fireworks in 'em and I can easily switch 'em around to the Fourth of July.

The city dads will soon need a policeman at the corner of 3rd street and the avenue to protect the pedestrian from the rush of vehicles.

"Whatever you do, don't look in my top drawer, Harry," Harriet, a husband should know all; are you hiding Christmas presents or bills?

A house well planned is better always than one built at haphazard. The old reliable architect, D. P. Smith, is as reliable as the rock of ages and has a life's experience to back him.

Remember that it would be a terrible thing to send a person the same thing for Christmas this year that you gave last year.

Do you need a lawyer? We have a legion. If you want a good one consult the columns of the Express. The good ones carry a card.

Always Make Love

to your wife: Remember she is just as sweet and dainty now as when you used to hold her by the hand and look into her eyes and tell her she was your only love, your heart's delight. Half the petulance and distress that makes you so irritable comes from indigestion. You can cure it by taking Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin. It is guaranteed by E. Howard.

It is quite enough to make China nervous to see all those large moving vans backed up to the open door.
